Contributions to EABC

I've been working for the Energy Industry for almost 20 years, in Europe, Africa and now Asia. I'm now working in Thailand both for PTT and for ENGIE, hence experiencing two different ways of doing business, two different management cultures, and trying to make the best of both of them.

I do believe that engaging Stakeholders, and specifically Authorities, is a must for doing business in a country as a foreigner, and that you should do it professionally, with respect and passion. That's the reason why I've chaired the EABC Energy Working group and have been a director for 1.5 years.

I do believe that European business has a special message to voice in Thailand, and that we can voice it only if united. That's why I've spent some energy to help shape EABC Next as a successor to EABC, around a new Deal with its members, its working groups, its partners bilateral chambers.
